INTRODUCTION

This publication is intended to help you understand and interpret entries on the driving records available from Oregon Driver and Motor Vehicle Services (DMV) ordered on/after July 6, 2020.

RECORD TYPES

There are five types of driving records available: Certified court prints; non-employment driving records; non-employment, open-ended driving records; and employment driving records.

- The certified court print driving record includes most traffic violations and accident entries for at least the previous five years. Serious criminal traffic offenses, such as driving under the influence of intoxicants, may remain on the record permanently.
- The 3-year non-employment driving record has entries for at least the previous three years. This record lists all non-employment-related accidents, convictions, suspensions, cancellations, revocations, and diversion agreements.
- The non-employment, open-ended driving record contains the same information as a non-employment driving record but is not limited to three years and is available only for the purpose of providing insurance discount(s) to an individual.
- The 3-year employment driving record is a three-year record that is limited to convictions and accidents the driver had while on the job.
- The certified court print with CDL medical certification driving record is a certified court print that includes commercial driver license medical certification information.

For each record type, there are two versions of the record available: (1) a version containing the driver's personal information and (2) a version that has the driver's personal information removed (sanitized). Personal information is removed from a record if a requestor does not qualify to receive it under Oregon's Record Privacy Law (ORS 802.175-802.191) or does not have a written, notarized permission slip from the individual whose information is requested.

Personal information is: driver license, driver permit or identification number; name; address; and telephone number.

Under Oregon's Record Privacy Law, only certain qualified entities are allowed to receive personal information. These include such entities as attorneys, legitimate businesses, insurance companies, police agencies, and other government agencies. See the Records, Privacy & Account Holders section on the DMV website (www.oregondmv.com) for additional information.

Standard Conviction Abbreviations Table

Below is a list of all conviction types along with the codes that were used prior to July 6, 2020.

Information shown in SUBSCRIPT test indicates the entry type is obsolete. Obsolete entry types are no longer used (entered on records), but may still appear on some driving records.

The Standard Convictions Abbreviations table is made up of five columns as follows:

COLUMN 1 (LITERAL)

This column contains the abbreviation (literal) for Oregon convictions. The Oregon literal is a three to twelve character alpha/numeric abbreviation of the offense.

DMV uses ACD codes to record convictions occurring in another state on an Oregon driver. See the ACD Code table (Appendix 3) for definitions and additional information.

COLUMN 2 (CITE)

This column references the Oregon Revised Statutes (ORS) or other citing authority for the offense. The following are examples of the entries found in this column.

807.610.....ORS Chapter 807, Section 610

F397.5 Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations as contained in Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Part 397, Section 5.

LO Local (town/city) Ordinance

COLUMN 3 (CLASSIFICATION)

This column lists the maximum (most serious) classification (class) type and code allowed for the offense. Note: The driving record may display a lesser class type and code for the offense than the one noted in the table column, but not higher.

Class Types (‘F’ being the most serious)
F – Felony
M – Misdemeanor
V – Violation
LO - Local Ordinance

Class Codes (‘A’ being the most serious)
A
D

Note: As of January 1, 2000, the Class Type “Infractions” became “Violations.” Any infraction appearing on an Oregon driving record (noted as “I” next to the Class Code on the conviction) should be construed to be a “Violation.”

COLUMN 4 (TEXT)

This column contains a summary of the offense as written in applicable law, regulation or rule.

COLUMN 5 (RETAINED)

Indicates the number of years, from conviction date, the conviction will show on the record.

Note:

- The program to delete record segments is conducted only once a year at the beginning of each year.
- An “*” indicates the retention is 55 years if conviction involved operation of a commercial motor vehicle.
