Help spread the word about appropriate antibiotic use!

General brochure

Warning: Unnecessary Antibiotics Can Be Harmful

Explains how taking unnecessary antibiotics leads to development of resistant bacteria. Lists which types of illnesses respond to antibiotic treatment.

Parent brochure

Antibiotics Aren't Always the Answer

Encourages the appropriate use of antibiotics and answers parents' questions about common childhood upper respiratory infections.

Spanish brochure

¡La Penicilina No Sirve Para Todo!

Clarifies the role of antibiotics in treating upper respiratory infections, and suggests a number of home-care options for common viral illnesses.

Children's Activity Kit

An eight-page booklet of educational coloring sheets and word games for kids aged 2-10. Reinforces the importance of handwashing and taking antibiotics as directed. Info for parents explains how families can use antibiotics safely and reduce their risk of developing resistant infections. Available in English and Spanish.

Bilingual poster

The English side explains the dangers of inappropriate antibiotic use while discouraging hoarding and sharing antibiotic medications.

The Spanish side reinforces the importance of safely using antibiotics to protect the whole family's health.

Viral Rx pad

Fifty pre-formatted sheets "prescribe" home treatment to relieve the symptoms of viral upper respiratory infections.

Childcare advice letter pad

Fifty pre-formatted letters to childcare providers explain that children's viral upper respiratory infection does not require antibiotics.

Q&A Bilingual question & answer sheets

Three separate sheets answer common questions about the treatment of upper respiratory illnesses. Bilingual English/Spanish on three topics: ear infections, runny noses and colds.

All materials are written at a seventh grade reading level. They may be viewed and downloaded in PDF format at www.healthoregon.org/antibiotics/patients.

For bulk orders use the form on the other side. We charge minimal fees to cover printing and shipping. Fees are waived for rural and safety net clinics, in-home child care providers, public schools and other publicly funded organizations.
