

CROSS CONNECTION ADVISORY BOARD

Revised Oregon Administrative Rules adopted November 2, 2004 established an advisory board consisting of not more than nine members. The board will serve as advisors to the agency on policy matters related to cross connection control issues. Although the board does not have the final authority to make or enforce rules, their research, experience and advice to decision makers will contribute to effective changes in the Cross Connection Program.

Department of Human Services appoints advisory board members for a three-year term. Individual board members represent stakeholders in cross connection control. A list of board members is available on this website or by contacting the Program Coordinator at 971-673-1220.

The advisory board will meet quarterly for approximately two-hour sessions. Most meetings will be held in Portland at the Portland State Office Building, 800 NE Oregon Street. Specific information on time, location and agenda are available on this website or by contacting the Program Coordinator.

All meetings are open to the public and a portion of the agenda will be devoted to public comment.
