

Public Health Week, April 7 through 11

You're invited to participate in a week of activities, many featuring this year's theme, "Climate Change: Our Health in the Balance."

Monday

Climate Change and Public Health: panel discussion with Mel Kohn, Public Health Division and other leaders, facilitated by Dana Haynes, PCC., 10 a.m. to noon, Room 1-B

Tuesday

Local Food: Eamon Molloy, Lloyd Farmers' Market, 12 to 1 pm, Room 1-D

Wednesday

Water Quality: Lorna Stickel, Portland Water Bureau, 11:30 am to 12:30 pm, Room 1-E

Built Environment: panel discussion with Noelle Dobson (Community Health Partnership), Yvonne Michael (OHSU Dept. of Public Health & Preventive Medicine), Jill Fugilister (Coalition for a Livable Future), Mark Raggett (City of Portland Bureau of Planning), and Phil Wu (Kaiser Permanente), 1 to 2 pm, Room 1-E

Thursday

Looking to the Future: Gail Shibley, Public Health Division, 12 to 1 pm, Room 1-E

Friday

Oregon Master of Public Health Student Symposium features student speakers and poster sessions, Rooms 1-A, 1-B, 1-C, 1-D, 1-E

Monday through Thursday:

Exhibits and posters by Public Health programs and partners in the PSOB Lobby and room 1-A