

I-84 CLOSURES BEGIN TONIGHT

Tuesday, 18 March 2008 16:25

Tonight is the first night of five scheduled closures of interstate 84 at the hilgard interchange. The closures will be take place tonight, tomorrow and thursday night between 8:00 and 6:00 am, and again next monday and tuesday. During the closures, crews will begin working on the new hilgard overpass. Traffic on the interstate will be detoured around the closure using the exit ramps and onramps at the interchange. Additionally, traffic on the interstate may be reduced to one lane in each direction. Winter weather could change the closure schedule, and you can get the latest information on tripcheck.com.

Reprinted with permission from KCMB.