

PERS Chapter 238 Program (Tier One and Tier Two) Pre-Retirement Beneficiary Designation

Things to consider

You can choose either the Standard Designation of Beneficiary or you can designate one or more specific beneficiaries.

Standard beneficiary designation

The standard designation directs PERS to pay benefits in the order listed below:

- 1) To your spouse, if you are legally married at the time of your death. If you are not, then to
- 2) your child* or children in equal shares. If any of your children are deceased, their portion is equally divided between their children who are alive at your death. If all of your children predecease you, their equal shares will be paid to their children. If there is no one in this group, then
- 3) to your mother and father in equal shares. If one of them predecease you, his/her share is paid to the other parent. If both parents predecease you, then
- 4) to your brothers and sisters in equal shares. If any one of them predecease you, their share will be paid to that sibling's children equally. If all of your brothers and sisters predecease you, all of their children will share equally. If there is no one in this group, then
- 5) payment will be made to your estate.

*Natural born and adopted children are considered “children” even if you selected the standard designation before or after their adoption or birth. If your natural born children are adopted by someone else, they are not considered your “children” under the standard designation. If you wish to name the adopted-out child as your beneficiary, use the specific designation part of this form.

Specific beneficiary designation

You have several options when naming a specific beneficiary

- 1) You can name one primary beneficiary. If you designate only one primary beneficiary, he or she will receive 100 percent of your death benefits.
- 2) You can name more than one primary beneficiary. You can decide what portion of your death benefit will go to each beneficiary.
- 3) If you name more than one primary beneficiary, and one or more of the primary beneficiaries predecease you, that primary beneficiary's share will be paid to the alternate beneficiary you name as the “alternate” beneficiary.
Note: If you do not list any alternate beneficiaries and check the appropriate box in Section C, any benefit will be shared equally among the primary beneficiaries living at your death.
- 4) If you assign percentages to each primary beneficiary, the total percentages must equal 100 percent.
- 5) If you do not assign a percentage to each primary beneficiary named, each will share equally.
- 6) You can designate a charitable organization, your estate, or a trust as your beneficiary.

Please use additional beneficiary designation forms if you name more than four beneficiaries.

Because a beneficiary could die before you do, you can:

- 1) Check the box to direct that all primary beneficiaries living at your death share equally.

OR

- 2) When more than one primary beneficiary is designated, you can name an alternate beneficiary for the same percentage of death benefit assigned to the primary beneficiary.

If you do not give a percentage or mark a box indicating otherwise, all beneficiaries will share equally.

Naming an estate, charity, or trust.

Beneficiaries do not need to be a person; you can also name charities, your estate, or a trust.

You can designate an estate, charity, or trust by checking the appropriate box and providing the name and address of that entity. You may also assign percentages between a charity and/or specific beneficiary(ies) in Section C and Section D. Percentages must equal 100 percent. Estate and Trusts designations must be a 100% designation.
