NEED FOR THE RULE(S)

The Oregon Department of Land Conservation and Development (DLCD) adopted updates to Oregon's Territorial Sea Plan Rocky Habitat Management Strategy in April 2023. As a part of this update, rocky habitat sites are now eligible for one of three management designations: Marine Research Area, Marine Garden/Education Area and Marine Conservation Area. Goals, regulations and management practices differ for each type of designation.

The management areas and their respective goals were designated by DLCD after an extensive review process led by the Ocean Policy Advisory Council. To comply with the updated plan and management goals now included in the Rocky Habitat Management Strategy, OPRD will need to update our rule language around collection of marine plants and macroalgae in marine reserves and marine protected areas in OAR 736-021-0090(4)(b).

In addition, when opening 736-021-0090 for changes, OPRD is proposing removing language in section (3) that refers to requirements for enrolled tribal members to obtain a permit from OPRD prior to collecting natural products. This language is outdated and does not reflect current agency practices. Prior to proposing opening rulemaking, the agency offered consultation to all nine federally recognized tribes.

Proposed changes were open for public comment in October 2023. This version of proposed amendments have been modified based on feedback received during the initial comment process. This change clarifies that enrolled tribal members from federally recognized tribes in Oregon are eligible to collect natural products and allows for management agreements for collection between Indian Tribes and the agency.

STATEMENT IDENTIFYING HOW ADOPTION OF RULE(S) WILL AFFECT RACIAL EQUITY IN THIS STATE

The department estimates the adoption of changes to OAR 736-021-0090 will have a positive racial equity impact on members of the nine federally-recognized tribes in Oregon. Removing outdated language that required enrolled members of one of the 9 federally recognized tribes in Oregon to obtain a permit before collecting natural products for traditional use will remove barriers to use of the ocean shore. While the department no longer requires the permit, the outdated language still in rule is a barrier to access

FISCAL AND ECONOMIC IMPACT:

The proposed amendments do not have an economic or fiscal impact. The department does not anticipate a significant change in collection of marine plants or macroalgae as a result of this rulemaking.

COST OF COMPLIANCE:

(1) Identify any state agencies, units of local government, and members of the public likely to be economically affected by the rule(s). (2) Effect on Small Businesses: (a) Estimate the number and type of small businesses subject to the rule(s); (b) Describe the expected reporting, recordkeeping and administrative activities and cost required to comply with the rule(s); (c) Estimate the cost of professional services, equipment supplies, labor and increased administration required to comply with the rule(s).

1) No state agencies, local governments or members of the public are likely to be economically affected by the proposed rule amendments.

2) a) No small businesses are subject to the rules. (b) no reporting or record keeping activities required to comply. (c) No cost for professional services.

DESCRIBE HOW SMALL BUSINESSES WERE INVOLVED IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THESE RULE(S):

Small businesses were involved in the changes to the Territorial Sea Plan and public process conducted by the Ocean Policy Advisory Council.

WAS AN ADMINISTRATIVE RULE ADVISORY COMMITTEE CONSULTED? NO IF NOT, WHY NOT?

This rulemaking is implementing technical changes made after extensive public outreach by OPAC during an amendment process to the Territorial Sea Plan.

AMEND: 736-021-0090
