PHOCUS goals

Implement culturally and linguistically specific strategies to prevent the initiation of substance use and substance use disorder

Build community-based strategies, partnerships, and programming to reduce and prevent initiation of substance use and substance use disorder in communities disproportionately impacted by harms related to opioids and other drugs

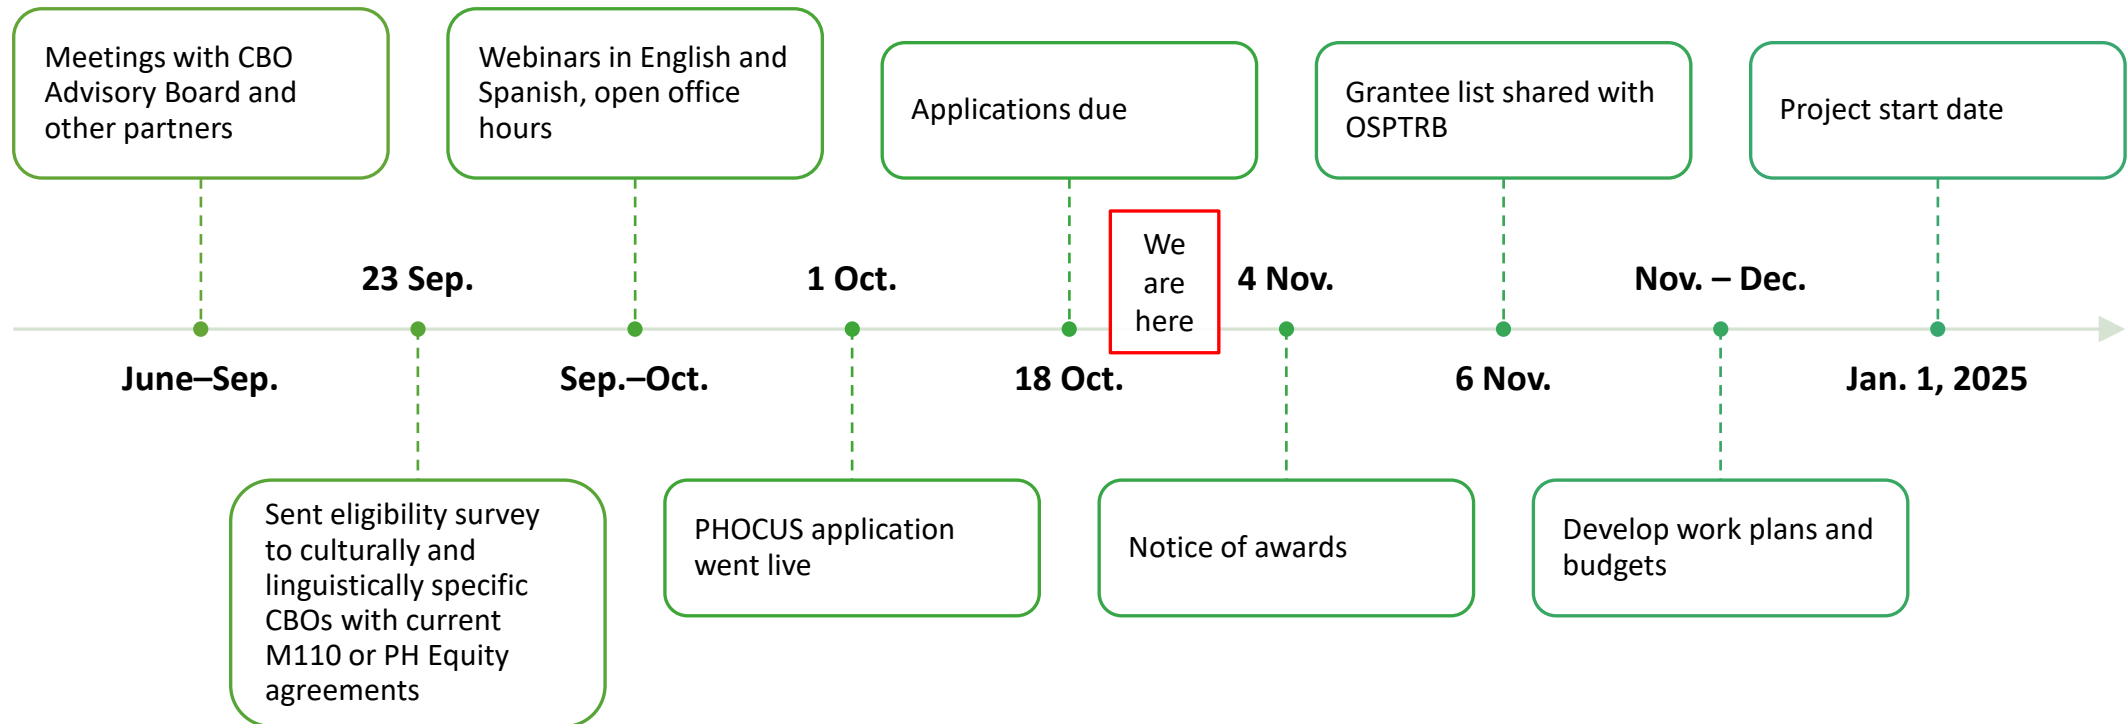

Reduce or prevent substance use/substance use disorder among priority populations:

1. Black, African, Pan-African, African American or Foundational Black American (FBA) persons
2. American Indian or Alaska Native persons
3. People who speak languages other than English

Required strategies

Engage	Strategy 1: Engage programs and community to understand the array of substance use and substance use disorder prevention challenges that are most concerning to at least one of the PHOCUS priority populations
Assess	Strategy 2: Assess resources, policies, and localized prevention strategies that can be adapted to accessible community-based programs that center community needs
Develop and deliver	Strategy 3: Develop and deliver community programming that tailors and strengthens substance use prevention and resilience strategies to community needs
