Employment Department Rights Of Review Of An Order From The Office of Administrative Hearings

I missed my hearing, and the case was decided without me. What can I do?

You can ask that the hearing be reopened to tell your side. See ORS 657.270 (page 2). The request must be in writing, filed within 20 days from the date the order was mailed, and submitted to the Office of Administrative Hearings and Employment Department. You must include an explanation for why you failed to appear at the hearing, or your request will be dismissed. Unless your explanation shows that an excusable mistake or circumstances beyond your reasonable control prevented you from appearing at the hearing, your request will be denied.

I disagree with the way the ALJ decided my case. What can I do?

You can file an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board that asks for EAB to review your case and issue a new decision. An application for review may be filed online on the EAB website, at: www.oregon.gov/employ/pages/employment-appeals-board.aspx

You can also file an application for review in person, by mail, by fax, or by emailing the EAB office or any office of the Employment Department, or the Office of Administrative Hearings. Forms are available on the EAB website. If you do not use one of EAB's forms, your application for review should include:

- a) The claimant's name
- b) The order number
- c) The case number
- d) The order's mailing date
- e) The applicant's or representative's name
- f) The applicant's or representative's postal and email addresses

What is the deadline for an Application for Review?

Your application for review must be filed within 20 days from the date the order was mailed. See OAR 471-041-0065 and OAR 471-041-0070 (page 2). You may still file an application for review after 20 days, but it will be a late application for review. Late applications for review must include a statement explaining what factors or circumstances happened that were beyond your reasonable control that prevented you from filing the application for review on time. EAB must dismiss the late application unless it was filed within 7 days from when those circumstances stopped. See OAR 471-041-0070 (page 2).
